Damaine Powell

Head Coach
6th Season (USC, '94)

Sliced bread. The wheel.

Whatever you compare sixth-year Cal State Dominguez Hills men's basketball coach Damaine Powell to, there's no denying that he has been the best thing for the program in recent years since either society-altering invention.

In his five years at the helm of the men's basketball program, Coach Powell has taken the Toros from the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) doormat when he officially took over on August 19, 2004, to a share of the 2008-09 CCAA regular season title with a program-tying 22 wins, which included an NCAA West Region 1st-round win, and pushing top-seeded and No. 3-ranked BYU-Hawaii to the brink in a competitive second-round defeat.

One year earlier, the Toros finished third, and within just two games of qualifying for the Division II version of March Madness after earning a No. 5 seed in the CCAA Tournament, where the Toros advanced to the semifinals.

Powell, who enters the 2009-10 campaign with a 69-70 record in his first five years in Cardinal & Gold, intends on carrying last year's momentum over to this season ... and then some.

"CSUDH should be a basketball power," Powell states, "and I am going to make sure I do everything I can to make it that."

With his no nonsense approach to the game, Powell prides himself on his strong work ethic, and demands that his players follow suit. He refuses to concern himself with how his players performed in last night's game, but focuses on how hard they compete in the ensuing practice, an effort that ultimately will decide who sees the most floor time on game day.

Equipped with an insatiable appetite for detail, Powell preaches a repetition of fundamentals, especially on defense and on the boards, practices that are known for determining success or failure come crunch time.

And based on each of his teams improving its record from the previous year, including the 2008-09 squad's 22-8 overall ledger that tied the program's history for most wins in a season, Powell's formula has paid noticeable dividends thus far.

"The focus of all my teams is defense and rebounding, first and foremost," Powell preaches. "Defense and rebounds are the way to championships."

Now entering his sixth season at the helm of the CSUDH men's basketball ship, the 37-year old and new father continues to draw from over a decade of head coaching experience, not counting the three years on the men's basketball staff at the University of Southern California, where Powell played collegiately from 1992-94.

Always the learner, Powell travels to different top-notch coaches to draw their wisdom and incorporate what he learns into his own ever-evolving philosophy.

"I go to coaches all over the country to learn and soak in as much knowledge as I can," Powell says as a matter of fact. "I've visited with Tim Floyd, Lute Olsen, George Raveling," he continues, as he rattles off the top coaches past and present, "Rudy Washington and Tom Izzo, and take everything I learn from them and put them into my personality and teaching style."

During his first year as head coach of Compton College, the then-24 year old Powell was believed to be the youngest coach ever to win a state title after the Tartars captured the Championship with a 27-3 record. Powell then led the program to a second title in 2003 after Compton defeated American River JC and finished 17-8 on the year, sending Powell off with a Championship in his final season at the junior college level. Enjoying unparalleled success at that level where he compiled an overall 152-60 record in seven seasons as a junior college head coach, Powell led his teams to the state playoffs every season, including a semifinal berth in 1998-99.

Prior to Compton College, Powell served on the men's basketball staff at USC from 1995-97 under former Trojan head coaches Charles Parker and Henry Bibby, where he helped the Trojans to a 39-47 overall record, including a 17-11 mark in 1996-97 when USC dropped a 90-77 decision to Illinois in the first round of the NCAA Tournament.

As a player under legendary former USC head coach George Raveling, Powell enjoyed two winning seasons from 1992-93 to 1993-94, when the Trojans qualified for back-to-back NIT berths. As a senior co-captain in his final regular season game, Powell connected for the game-winning basket with 2.6 seconds left to propel USC to a 69-68 victory at Oregon State, sending them to the NIT Tournament. During his career, he averaged 2.2 points, 1.0 rebound and 1.6 assists per game.

"Damaine worked as hard as anybody and was a great person to have on our club," says Raveling. "I always felt that one day he would be an outstanding coach, and he proved that at Compton College. I fully expect him to bring success to Cal State Dominguez Hills."

Prior to his two playing years at USC, Powell was named the South Coach Conference Player of the Year at Long Beach City College, averaging 9.8 points, 6.4 assists and 2.5 steals per game during the 1991-92 season as he led the Vikings to a 31-6 record and a semifinal appearance in the junior college state tournament. As a freshman one year earlier, he averaged 4.7 points, 3.9 assists and 2.2 steals for LBCC, which finished 32-5 and made the state championship game.

Powell is no stranger to the Carson campus. A native of the local community who prepped at Long Beach St. Anthony's High School, he grew up in the Torodome shooting hoops and attending legendary and former CSUDH head coach Dave Yanai's basketball camps.

"I just try to bring in good people because good people find a way to be successful," Powell concludes. "We try to create a family atmosphere on my teams, and hopefully produce a good kid that's passionate about academics and basketball, and who will help us win at the same time."

Powell received both his bachelor's and master's degrees in History from USC.

Max Ward
Assistant Coach
Ninth Season

Coach Max Ward begins his ninth season on the sidelines for the Toros. Ward came to the Carson campus from Johnson & Wales University in Charleston, South Carolina, where he served as the head basketball coach and the Athletics Director for one year.

Prior to Johnson & Wales in Charleston, Ward was an assistant coach at Johnson & Wales University in Providence, Rhode Island. There he was responsible for practice management, underclass recruiting, scouting, film exchange and handling day-to-day operations.

As Powell's top assistant, coach Ward is responsible for practice management, recruiting, scouting and on-floor coaching.

"Max is one of the top assistant coaches on the west coast," begins Powell. "He's been coveted and courted by different schools throughout the years and he's always chosen to stay, but I know he'll eventually get the offer he wants. He's a good recruiter, a good coach, very well organized, respected by the team and we're lucky to have him here at Dominguez. He has a bright, bright future in coaching."

Ward participated in collegiate basketball while at Johnson & Wales, and was named the Most Outstanding Player after his senior season. He was also the Team Captain for two years.

Coach Ward received his undergraduate degree in Hospitality Management in 1998 from Johnson & Wales University in Charleston, SC. He then earned his master's degree in Organization and Management in 2000 from Johnson & Wales in Providence, RI.

Ward, wife Diane, son Drew and newborn daughter Maya, reside in Garden Grove.

Top assistant Max Ward has been Powell's right hand man the past five seasons.

Anthony Berkenkamp
Assistant Coach
Fourth Season

Coach Berkenkamp begins his fourth year on the Toros sidelines after a two-year stint on the sidelines as the JV assistant coach at Culver City High School from 2003-05, and a one-year appointment as the head coach of Venice Airborne, a travel team of players ages 14-17 during the 2003-04 season.

On staff, Berkenkamp monitors study hall and conducts individual workouts, in addition to his being a go-to for coaches Powell and Ward.

As a coach at Culver City HS, Berkenkamp's squad boasted a 15-1 record, including a perfect 10-0 mark in the Ocean League Conference, while his Venice Airborne team earned its place in the squad's first-ever championship tournament, winning 65% of their games that season.

A two-sport student-athlete as a student at Culver City HS (basketball, tennis), Berkenkamp was a regular selection on the honor roll.

Berkenkamp received his degree in kinesiology from CSUDH in May 2008, and is working on his master's.

Jonathan Toliver
Assistant Coach
First Season

Toliver begins his first year on the Toro sidelines after a solid four-year career as a player in Cardinal and Gold.

A 6-5 guard, Toliver established the CSUDH career marks for 3-pointers made and attempted in his final year on the Carson campus, after making 53 starts in 110 games played in his career.

The Inglewood native tallied a career-best 26 points against San Francisco State (March 2, 2007), becoming the lone Toro to boast two games with at least 20 points scored during a sophomore season in which he averaged just under 10 points a game.

Currently a student at Cal State Dominguez Hills, Toliver will earn his bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice in December 2009.

Nolan Johnson
Assistant Coach
First Season

Coach Johnson begins his first year as an assistant coach with the Toros men's basketball program, bringing nearly 10 years of coaching experience to the table.

Johnson served as head coach for AAU's team "Up N Coming," one of the top high school programs on the West coast that recorded a 114-42 record over the past five seasons, and has seen 33 players earn scholarships to Division I and II levels.

Prior, her served as an assistant coach for Washington HS, where his teams advanced to the postseason all six years, and won the league title for 5 of his 6 years.

Johnson, a graduate of Southern Connecticut State University, currently is a special education teacher in the LAUSD, and is working on his master's in special education.

Back to Basics

The 2008-09 campaign was a season of firsts for Cal State Dominguez Hills men's basketball coach Damaine Powell and his Toros.

Not only did CSUDH earn a share of the CCAA regular season crown for the first time since 1986-87, the Toros also played their way into an NCAA playoff berth for the first time since 1988-89, taking a first round contest against 5th-seeded Central Washington before giving top-seeded and No. 3 nationally ranked BYU-Hawai'i everything they wanted in a second round contest before the hosts kept the lead for good with just five minutes left in regulation.

In 08-09, coach Powell had a five-headed monster of then-seniors Michael Hernandez, Jerrell Smith, Rodney Yearby, Jonathan Toliver and Ryan Walton at his disposal, using their talent and buy-in to lead the experienced squad to "March Madness," a tournament that pointed out an obvious, yet crucial fact.

"Last year taught me how many good players we need," reflected Powell, on his team's first foray into the NCAA postseason in two decades. "You have to have an older, experienced team with talent, and when you get to the NAAs, it's all about talent."

"If you don't have the talent, you're not even in the game," Powell continues. "We were lucky last year in that the team wanted to win. It wasn't about individuals. It was a bunch of seniors who did whatever they had to do to win. It really opened the coaching up and allowed us to get the most from them, and that was the difference."

This year's team, however, features just four returners from last year's squad, but two who have a combined seven years of experience under the belts after redshirt seasons, and from whom Powell will need leadership, leadership, and more leadership.

"It's early, and we almost have to start all over again," begins Powell, looking at a roster filled with 12 new players. "But I like the character of this team and its work ethic, and at some point this year we will be a good team. I don't know when, but at some point, we will be a good team."

Here's a look at who will be leading this year's Toro squad:

CSUDH's lone four returners (clockwise from top left: Jamel Ward, Robert Willhite, James Cawthorne, Tim McGrath) have big shoes to fill if the Toros hope to make a run at another CCAA title and NCAA postseason appearance this year.

High-flying senior Tim McGrath set the Torodome on fire last year with his innate athletic ability and shooting touch, two qualities Powell will need for his team to succeed this year. McGrath started 24 of 30 games played in first year in Carson and scored in double-figures twice, including a season-high 18 points on 6-of-7 shooting from 3-point range against Cal Poly Pomona in early December. The Westchester native also pulled down at least 5 boards in nine games, including year-best 8 against Fort Lewis in late November, leading the Toros in blocks six times, in rebounds four times, in steals twice and in scoring and assists once.

"We hope that Tim steps up to the next level," says coach Powell. "He has all the talent and potential to do that. The key is whether he can pull it all together and be consistent with it."

Junior James Cawthorne begins his fourth season in Carson after being granted a medical redshirt his freshman year. Improving in nearly all categories from 07-08, Cawthorne led the Toros in rebounds and blocks twice, and in scoring and steals once. The Orange native tallied five games with at least 10 points, including a 20-point outburst on 8-of-15 shooting from the floor at CSUMB in mid-February which included 4-for-8 from 3-point land.

"We hope we can get a little more production out of James without any big men returning," says Powell. "We think he can be an All-CCAA guy, and we need him to play like one if we want to be a good team. He can shoot and score, and has a high IQ, but he has to stay healthy and get better."

Sophomore Robert Willhite started nine of 30 games as a redshirt freshman last year, scoring in double-figures 5 times, including a season-high 14 points against SSU in late January on 6-of-7 shooting from the floor. He grabbed a season-best 7 board twice, and led the team in assists three times,

RETURNERS

Just four Toros return for a second-consecutive run at the CCAA Title and NCAA postseason, who are expected to lead, produce and execute.

Guard Jamel Ward begins his fifth year in Cardinal & Gold as the senior statesman of the squad, after using a redshirt season in 05-06. Last year, the Los Angeles native started 16 of 28 games played, tallying five games in double figures, with a season-best 17 points at Humboldt State in late February. Ward also grabbed at least 5 assists in seven games, with a season-best effort of 7 coming at CS San Bernardino, while leading the team in steals and blocks twice, and in scoring, rebounds and assists once.

"Jamel is a solid guy, and I expect him to be a leader this year," begins Powell. "He already leads with his work ethic and play, so I'm looking for him to help the new guys transition and learn our system."

in steals and blocks twice, and in scoring once.

A cerebral player, Powell expects and needs Willhite's learning curve to increase exponentially this year if CSUDH again will make a run at the league title. "We forget that Rob is really young because he has a lot of talent and is very smart," he begins. "But if our team is going to be good, Rob has to be an all-league kind of guy for us. If not, we're going to struggle."

NEWCOMERS

With 11 new faces in Cardinal & Gold this year, coach Powell knows a majority of them have to contribute to fill the void left by last year's senior class. With two University transfers and a number of junior college transfers, the sixth-year head coach already has picked out a few he thinks can make a difference.

"Tim McLaurin, from Chadron State, has to be a big-time contributor for us to be successful," begins Powell. "He is a really good player and we know we have a talent in him, but we're still trying to figure out how to use him best."

At Chadron State, McLaurin earned 1st-team Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference All-East Division honors, a Daktronics 2nd-team All-Central Region nod, and a 1st-team All-Nebraska D-II accolade as a sophomore, while averaging 17.9 points, 5.6 boards, 2.9 assists and 1.2 steals in two years as an Eagle. The Compton native recorded just the second triple-double in CSC history in a game against Augustana (SD), tallying 23 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists (Nov 15, 2008), with his 492 points scored in 2008 placing him 21st in school history for most points in a season, following the best scoring season ever at Chadron State as a freshman (458 pts).

"Danny Benson, a 6'2 guard from Florida who was named 'Mr. Pensacola' as a prep, is another player we expect to give us heavy contributions," Powell continues. "He has a lot of talent but needs to learn our system and implement and fuse his talent to fit into how we do things."

Of his bigger guards, Powell points out junior Stephen Faulkner and true freshman Wesley White as two who need to contribute early and often.

Faulkner was named a 2nd-team All-league player at Allen Hancock JC after lettering in three sports in high school, while White was named a 1st-team All-League and 2nd-team All-CIF selection as a prep, leading Inglewood HS to a runner-up division finish after leading the league in rebounding and blocked shots.

The "X" factor on the team may be 6'6 forward Zareh Zargaryan, who can see action in positions 1-4, a trait he demonstrated in CSUDH's last exhibi-

"It's early, and we almost have to start all over again. But I like the character of this team and its work ethic, and at some point this year we will be a good team. I don't know when, but at some point, we will be a good team."

tion game against Biola. "I think Zareh is going to be a good player for us," says Powell. "He has a lot to learn, but he's talented, and once he gets to where we want him to be, we have to learn how to use him best in our system. But he does have talent."

PROGNOSIS

Guard play, especially at the "2" position, is the team's biggest strength at the moment, exemplified by CSUDH taking a 35-26 halftime lead over USC at the Galen Center in the second of three pre-season exhibition contests for the Toros as its shooters drained a good percentage of shots before going cold from behind the arc after the break.

Conversely, the center and point guard positions are the thinnest, but will be bolstered in January when players get cleared eligibility wise, including 7-foot transfer Amir Aguilar, who averaged over 6 boards and nearly 4 points at Division I Colorado State during the 2007-08 season, and set the school record for points, rebounds and blocked shots at Marshall HS, where he prepped.

FINAL THOUGHTS

Although just four Toros return to this year's squad, coach Powell is confident that the 2009-10 can achieve success. The only question is when.

"We were encouraged that we can defend once we follow our principles and play at a certain standards, and we were encouraged that we got a bunch of open shots," Powell reflects on the exhibitions, specifically after the contest at his alma mater. "I also liked the fact that we competed and actually outplayed them."

"We can improve on our blocking out, our offensive execution, defensive execution ... There's a lot to improve upon. We just have to play a little tougher and smarter."

Looking forward to how the CCAA Conference will pan out after the Toros were chosen to finish 4th amongst a pre-season poll of head coaches, Powell is satisfied with that prediction heading into the tomorrow's season opener.

"It's hard to project because we have so many new guys and a new team, but I'm hoping to finish in the top 4 somewhere, and hopefully make a run to the CCAA Tournament and go from there."

"But so much depends on if we can stay healthy, if the players want to win, or if that's their first priority, or whether it's to score 20," Powell concludes.

"Last year's team was really talented, and we had guys who were experienced as well. We were also very lucky to get out without any significant injuries. I'm still learning the team, but as long as we are healthy, we'll be fine."

About Cal State Dominguez Hills

THE UNIVERSITY

Located in Carson, just 13 miles south from LAX and minutes from the South Bay beaches, California State University, Dominguez Hills sits on a 346-acre campus that shares space with the Home Depot Center, home to MLS soccer teams the L.A. Galaxy and Chivas USA.

The University boasts an environment that provides a distinct advantage for its students by embracing the surrounding community.

CSUDH's diverse demographics are shown through every possible dimension: cultural, ethnic, age, gender, religious, economic and intellectual. Serving students locally, nationally and internationally, the Carson campus allows students to pursue a higher education while being able to develop the skills necessary for the working world after graduation. By creating a balance between the desired social atmosphere of a small campus and the cultural and academic possibilities available at a larger university, ample opportunities exist to quench the desire for intellectual development.

EDUCATIONAL DIVERSITY

Cal State Dominguez Hills embraces the diversity of its students by sponsoring more than 70 student organizations ranging from Departmental/Professional and Recreation/Sports organizations to Cultural, Religious Service and Special Interest groups.

The University is divided into six distinct schools/colleges: College of Business Administration and Public Policy; College of Education; College of Extended and International Education; College of Health and Human Services; College of Natural and Behavioral Sciences; College of Arts & Humanities.

Through these programs, CSUDH offers 45 majors and 51 minors, 26 Certificate Programs, 22 Graduate Degree Programs and 10 Credential Programs that serve an average 12,000 students per semester while boasting an exceptional 21:1 student-to-faculty ratio.

Opportunities to study abroad are available in seventeen countries including Chile, Japan, England, Mexico, Peru and France to name a few.

DISTANCE LEARNING

CSUDH also is a nationwide leader in distance learning programs, which have been featured on National Public Radio's "Morning Edition" and NBC-TV's "Homepage." Other off-campus programs that have made CSUDH the vibrant institution it has become are the statewide nursing program, the master's of humanities and an online MBA program.

HOUSING

Cal State Dominguez Hills holds a unique opportunity for students by offering on-campus housing. It's a convenient, safe and cost-effective resource to enhance the time spent at school. In contrast to the traditional residence halls or dormitories, University Housing is an apartment complex composed of 22 separate two-story buildings and two common buildings. All apartments are fully furnished and facilities include recreation and meeting rooms, laundry facilities and a computer lab. On the complex grounds are basketball and volleyball courts, a weight room and a picnic area, with grassy knolls and an exquisite landscape surrounding the buildings that create a perfect background for either studying or relaxing, or both.

Mildred García, Ed.D., is the seventh president of California State University, Dominguez Hills and the eleventh female president—the first Latina president—in the California State University system.

With a strong commitment to equitable access in higher education for all and with more than three decades of teaching and administrative experience, Dr. García took the helm as President on August 1, 2007 and is poised to lead the highly diverse faculty, staff and student body at CSU Dominguez Hills.

An urban university located in the South Bay area of Los Angeles County, CSU Dominguez Hills offers 45 baccalaureate degrees and 21 master's degrees. Enrollment exceeds 12,000 students, of which about 2,000 enroll via distance education opportunities. The student population is among the most ethnically and culturally rich in the nation. President García brings with her a commitment to multi-cultural alliances and believes that these coalitions strengthen not only an individual's self-development and opportunities, but also strengthen institutions and communities.

President García came to Dominguez Hills after serving from 2001 to 2007 as president of Berkeley College in New York and New Jersey, where she championed the cause of access with success—the obligation to make the attainment of a college degree a realistic goal for all who strive to succeed. Under her leadership, the college began offering full academic programs in an online format. Over 14 bachelor's and 14 associate's degrees were approved, including Criminal Justice, International Business, Fashion Marketing and Management, Health Information Management and Human Resources. The college also made a number of capital improvements during her tenure, including the construction of new facilities as well as the modernization and renovation of existing facilities.

Prior to Berkeley, she was at Arizona State University (1997-2001), holding a variety of positions there, including Vice Provost for Academic Personnel, Associate Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Associate Director of the Hispanic Research Center at Arizona State University, and Tenured Professor in the Social and Behavioral Sciences Department. From 1986 to 1996 she was at Montclair State University, starting out as Executive Assistant to the Vice President of Academic Affairs before joining the faculty in the School of Professional Studies and serving as Assistant Vice President of Academic Affairs (1988-1996). She has also held the post of Dean of Students at Hostos Community College of City University of New York (1979-1986).

An educator foremost, President García's research has concentrated on equity in higher education and its impact on policy and practice. She has written extensively and is a much sought-after speaker at national and international conferences. Among the books she has authored are Succeeding in an Academic Career, which focuses on how faculty of color can succeed in higher education; Assessing Campus Diversity Initiatives (co-published); and Transforming the First Year of College for Students of Color (with Laura I. Redón and Dawn Person). Most recently, she was a keynote speaker at the Association of American Colleges and Universities' Annual Conference, and presented at the American Council on Education's Third Summit for Women of Color Administrators in Higher Education. She was panel moderator for "Connecting Higher Education to Industry and Marketplace Needs" at the International Economic Development Council (IEDC) Annual Conference and delivered the keynote address at the University of San Diego, Community College Leadership Development Initiatives Summer Academy.

President García is an active member of the American Council of Education where she serves on its Board of Directors. She also serves on the Editorial Advisory Board of Peer Review, Association of American Colleges and Universities; on the Advisory Board for Hispanic Outlook in Higher Education, on the Board of Trustees of the Caucus Educational Corporation; on the Board of Trustees of the Caribbean University, Puerto Rico; and as founding board member of the National Council for Educational Partnerships.

President García received a Doctor of Education as well as a Master of Arts in higher education administration from Teachers College, Columbia University; an M.A. in business education/higher education from New York University; a B.S. in business education from Bernard Baruch College of City University of New York (CUNY); and an A.A.S. in legal secretarial sciences in business from New York City Community College of CUNY.

President García addressed her constituents for the first time on August 20, 2007, at the Fall Convocation. Following are a few excerpts from her speech:

"Many of our students come for a better career and a better quality of life. We are the ones who help them open their imaginations and see the wonders of learning and form a love for learning and education.

"Here was a diamond in southern Los Angeles, an institution serving the students that I have committed my life to. This is a community that provides excellent academic programs and good customer service to every student who enters, with a strong faculty who understand our student body. This institution gets it.

"We are a community where everybody knows that no matter where you work, you are an educator. Yes, the faculty is the heart of an institution and students learn mainly in the classroom. But all the research I have read indicates that education occurs inside and outside the classroom.

"We will succeed and continue to succeed because of people like you, committed to all students regardless of their standing in life. Together, we will take Dominguez Hills to new heights and I will serve you as a president who will work alongside of you and give you nothing less than my all.

"I thank you on behalf of the students at Dominguez Hills, our communities and those we will serve in the future."

Vice-President for Enrollment Mgmt./
Student Affairs

Dr. Susan E. Borrego was appointed Cal State Dominguez Hills' Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Affairs in January of 2009, after serving as the Vice President for Planning and Enrollment Management since the summer of 2008.

As the Vice President, Borrego is responsible for several areas on campus including admissions, financial aid, housing, outreach services, public safety, student development, disabled student services, student activities and intercollegiate athletics. Among her primary tasks will be to develop and implement the University's strategic enrollment plan as well as a comprehensive retention program.

Prior to Cal State Dominguez Hills, Borrego spent three years at fellow CCAA school Cal State Monterey Bay where she served in a similar capacity. Under her leadership, CSUMB experienced a 44 percent increase in freshmen enrollment, reversing a three year decline. Overall enrollment increased by 32 percent at the university during her time there.

Prior to working at CSUMB, Borrego served as Associated Vice Chancellor and Dean of Students at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. She previously was an Associate Dean/Director of Minority Student Affairs at the California Institute of Technology, where she also served as executive director of CALTECH Y, a nonprofit student activities center at the university.

Borrego is a scholar practitioner who has taught at the University of Southern California and University of Redlands. Her research and publications have concentrated on student learning, social class diversity, and the collaboration of academic affairs and students affairs to ensure student success.

Borrego holds a Ph.D. in education from the Claremont Graduate University.

Patrick Guillen
Athletics Director

Patrick Guillen assumed his position as the Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on November 1, 2005 after serving as the Assistant Athletics Director since 2002, and has led the department to its most successful overall seasons since its inception in 1968. Guillen's tenure at Cal State Dominguez Hills began in August of 1995 as the Director of Athletic Media Relations after coming to the Toros program from Vanguard University (formerly So. California College) in Costa Mesa, CA.

As the Director of Athletics, Guillen secured several new corporate partners, updated CSUDH's corporate sponsorship with Enterprise Rent-A-Car, hired CSUDH's new volleyball and baseball coaches, oversaw the appointment of a new Faculty Athletics Representative, raised necessary funds for new baseball and softball bleachers, sold venue advertising, centralized and updated concessions, and formulated future fundraising ideas which have substantially increased CSUDH Athletics funding beginning in the 2006 season. Additionally, his efforts were instrumental in the annual Toros Scholarship Golf Classics, which consistently have increased their profits over the past four years under Guillen's leadership.

Guillen serves on the Board of Directors for the Boys & Girls Club of Carson, as well as on both the CCAA Administrative and CCAA Championship Committees. He is also an active member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and the NCAA Division II Athletic Directors Association, was named an NCAA Regional Advisory Committee member for women's soccer and appointed the CCAA Sports Information liaison, and most recently was selected for a 3-year term on the Baseball Western Regional Advisory Committee.

In 2006, Guillen began his appointments on the CSUDH WASC Sub-Committee for Civic Engagement, as well as on the University Budget Committee (UBC), which recommends budget requests and allocations to the President of the University, two committees he continues to serve on.

Guillen has been an integral part of an Athletics Department that has captured two NCAA Division II men's soccer National Championships (including 2008), hosted the NCAA Division II Final Four women's soccer championship, and first- and second-round NCAA Division II men's soccer championships. In addition, Guillen initiated the negotiation process that brought the Home Depot Center to the Carson campus.

On the academic front, the overall student-athlete GPA has increased from 2.63 (04-05) to 2.67 (05-06) to 2.73 (06-07) to 2.78 (07-08) to 2.90 this past year under Guillen's leadership, an all-time high, while 76 student-athletes made the CSUDH Athletics spring 2009 honor roll, 61 were recognized by the NCAA as part of the 22nd Annual National STUDENT-Athlete Day, and 27 Toros were named to the 2008-09 CCAA's All-Academic list. Additionally, four of 17 total recipients were named CSUDH Presidential Scholars this past year.

Beginning with his Assistant Athletics Director/Media Relations responsibilities in 2002, Guillen had been responsible for fundraising, media, community and public relations, as well as the oversight of all home event management operations.

Prior to working in intercollegiate athletics, Guillen enjoyed a successful sales and marketing career in the healthcare industry, working as the Area Marketing Manager for what was then the largest privately-owned healthcare organization in the country, Comprehensive Rehabilitation Associates, Inc.

Born in nearby Torrance, Guillen's roots are fixed in Carson, having graduated from Carson High School. He earned his undergraduate degree in Business Administration with an emphasis in Management and Marketing from Vanguard University in 1987. Guillen is single and resides in Irvine.

The California Collegiate Athletic Association

The California Collegiate Athletic Association has been one of the nation's most successful intercollegiate athletic conferences since its establishment in December 1938.

The 12-member league is home to some of the nation's finest NCAA Division II athletic programs in Cal Poly Pomona, Cal State Dominguez Hills, Cal State L.A., Cal State Monterey Bay, Cal State San Bernardino, Cal State Stanislaus, Chico State, Humboldt State, UC San Diego, San Francisco State, Sonoma State and Cal State East Bay, in its first full year of membership.

These institutions compete in seven women's and six men's CCAA-sponsored sports. Fall sports include men's and women's cross country, men's and women's soccer and women's volleyball. Men's and women's basketball are contested in the winter, and women's tennis, men's golf, men's and women's outdoor track & field, softball and baseball comprise spring competition.

CCAA members have won 148 NCAA Championships (99 men, 48 women) all-time, including CSUDH men's soccer's 2008 Title, far and away the most of any Division II conference. On the men's side, CCAA members have brought home at least 10 titles in swimming & diving (25), wrestling (16), track & field (13), tennis (11) and baseball (10).

CCAA institutions have been very successful in the history of NCAA women's athletics, having won 10 cross country, nine softball, six track & field, five volleyball and five basketball national championships as well as 13 more in four other sports.

The CCAA has undergone several changes in conference membership since charter members UC Santa Barbara, Fresno State, San Diego State and San Jose State came together to form the league in 1938. Over the past 60 years, a number of institutions have been members of the CCAA, including Cal State Northridge, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, Chapman, Cal State Fullerton, Long Beach State, Pacific, Pepperdine, UC Riverside, UC Davis and Grand Canyon University.

The CCAA Commissioner's Office relocated from Southern California to the San Francisco Bay Area-suburb of Walnut Creek in July 1998. Robert J. Hiegert is in his 13th year as Commissioner.

CSUDH's Traditions of Excellence

Cal State Dominguez Hills is an NCAA Division II institution that competes in the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA). Although CSUDH is one of the younger schools in the conference, we are one of the most athletically competitive and honored schools in the CCAA, with 26 conference titles and five national championships to date.

The Athletics Department was founded in 1968 with the inception of the school's first intercollegiate team in men's golf, which was founded by the Toros' first ever Athletics Director, Dr. John Johnson. "Dr. J," as he's affectionately known, continues his role to this day as the head coach of the men's golf team and currently is the oldest active coach in the NCAA - a true living legend, indeed!

In a letter dated April 1969, Chairman of the 2nd Ad Hoc Committee on College Symbols Thomas S. Bullock announced that the CSUDH student body voted on Cardinal and Gold as the school's colors, and a bull to replace the existing "Gypsy Dancer" as its new mascot.

The bull, since referred to as the Toro, was derived from the "Dominguez Family history of cattle ranching," and will also "be well adapted to team symbols, etc." Luckily for both CSUDH and our newly-adapted school mascot, the volatile nature of a bull's temperament deterred Chairman Bullock from keeping a live example on campus.
